THE TRADE ACT PROGRAM

The Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) Program is a federal entitlement program that assists U.S. workers who have lost or may lose their jobs as a result of foreign trade. This program seeks to provide trade-affected workers with opportunities to obtain the skills, credentials, resources, and support necessary to become reemployed.

In Missouri, the Trade Act Program is jointly administered by the Office of Workforce Development (OWD) and the Division of Employment Security (DES). The Trade Act Program has three components: Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA), Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA), and Reemployment Trade Adjustment Assistance (RTAA).

Components of the Trade Act Program

Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) provides opportunities to obtain the skills, credentials, resources, and support to become reemployed. TAA is administered by the Office of Workforce Development through Missouri Job Centers. Trade Representatives in Missouri Job Centers are responsible for providing TAA services and making TAA determinations.

Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA) is a monetary benefit similar to Unemployment Insurance (UI) that is only available to trade-affected workers who meet specific criteria. The Division of Employment Security (DES) is responsible for making determinations and issuing TRA payments.

Reemployment Trade Adjustment Assistance (RTAA) is a monetary subsidy for workers aged 50 and older. RTAA is designed to help bridge a salary gap between a worker’s trade-affected employment and new employment. DES is responsible for making determinations and issuing RTAA payments.
Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA)

The goal of TAA is to help trade-affected workers return to suitable employment. Benefits and services available under TAA include (1) Job Search Allowance, (2) Relocation Allowance, and (3) Training – Classroom and/or Distance Learning/Online, On-the-Job, and Registered Apprenticeship.

1) TAA Job Search Allowance
Funding may be available for trade-affected workers who are unable to obtain suitable employment within their commuting area. Job Search Allowance is limited to the continental United States. When requesting TAA Job Search Allowance,
   - The request must be made prior to participating in approvable job search activities. Job search activities must be verified by an employer, Missouri Job Center staff, or a workforce professional.
   - The request must occur within specified timeframes.

Workers may be reimbursed for 90% of all job search expenses up to a maximum amount of $1,250. Eligible expenses include transportation, lodging, and/or meals.

2) TAA Relocation Allowance
Trade-affected workers who find suitable employment outside their commuting area may receive Relocation Allowance to assist with the cost of moving to the new area of employment. Relocation Allowance is limited to the continental United States. When requesting TAA Relocation Allowance,
   - The request must be made prior to moving, and the new job must meet the definition of suitable employment.
   - The request must be made within specified timeframes.

Workers may be reimbursed up to 90% of relocation expenses including moving costs, transportation, lodging, and/or meals. Workers are eligible to receive a lump sum up to $1,250 to pay toward additional relocation expenses (e.g. deposit on apartment, utilities, etc.).

3) TAA Training
Workers unable to find suitable employment may be eligible for TAA Training including Classroom and/or Distance Learning/Online, On-the-Job; and/or a Registered Apprenticeship. Any requests for training must be supported by Labor Market Information (LMI) that shows occupational growth and opportunities for employment.

Training requests must be approved by the Missouri Job Center Trade Representative prior to starting training. Workers are limited to one training plan per Trade Act petition. Training progress and attendance will be monitored.
TAA Training

TAA Classroom Training
Classroom Training is normally conducted in a classroom setting, but can include vocational, distance, and/or online education. Eligible training includes

• Remedial education courses, such as Adult Education and Literacy, High School Equivalency (HSE) Prep, or English as a Second Language, that provide fundamental skills necessary to become reemployed. TAA may fund examination costs such as HiSET/HSE or General Education Diploma (GED).
• Prerequisite Training coursework required by a training facility to be completed prior to entry into courses for specific training programs.
• Skills Training that leads to a credential and provides skills needed for a specific profession or job.

TAA On-the-Job Training (OJT)
TAA On-the-Job Training is an incentive that benefits both workers and employers. While workers obtain employment and opportunity to learn new job skills, employers are reimbursed 50% of wages during the training period. The maximum length of a TAA OJT cannot exceed 104 weeks. TAA OJT approval is required prior to the employment start date.

The employer must have an existing job vacancy and commit to continue employment of the trade-affected worker once training is complete. Trade-affected workers aged 50 and older may also receive additional wage subsidies (see RTAA section). Workers who participate in TAA OJT outside their commuting area may be eligible for transportation or subsistence allowance.

TAA Registered Apprenticeship Training
TAA Registered Apprenticeship program is an industry-driven partnership with educators offering a balance of on-the-job learning and classroom instruction. Workers may participate in Registered Apprenticeship training up to 130 weeks or until suitable employment is obtained, whichever occurs first. TAA Registered Apprenticeship approval is required prior to the employment start date. Trade-affected workers aged 50 and older may also receive wage subsidies (see RTAA section).

Criteria for Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) Training Approval

A Trade Representative must approve TAA Training prior to the training start date. The goal of TAA Training is to assist workers in finding suitable employment. However, for TAA Training to be approved, it must lead to sustainable employment. Funding will be provided only when the following criteria are met:

1) Suitable employment is not available and/or training is needed for suitable employment.
2) Workers must have the capabilities to undertake and successfully complete training programs that will give the skills needed to qualify for suitable employment. A credential from the training program must be earned.
3) Job-specific training must be supported by Labor Market Information (LMI) and show reasonable expectation that employment will be obtained.
4) Training is reasonably available from public or private training providers.
5) Financial support is available during training. Sources of support include Unemployment Insurance (UI) and Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA); other options can be discussed with a Trade Representative.
6) Training is suitable and available at a reasonable cost.

Other considerations for TAA training include:
• Workers may participate in either full-time or part-time classroom training (includes distance learning/online training).
Note: Workers who participate in part-time training will not be eligible for Trade Readjustment Allowance (see TRA section).

- Workers who participate in classroom and/or distance learning/online training must participate in 60-day benchmark reviews, make documented satisfactory progress, and remain on target to complete the training plan.
- Workers who participate in classroom and distance learning/online, on-the-job, and/or registered apprenticeship training outside the commuting area may be eligible for transportation or subsistence allowance.

To access TAA benefits, workers should

1) File a Trade Act Claim with a Division of Employment Security Regional Claims Center. (See Trade Act Worker Responsibilities section.)
2) Visit jobs.mo.gov to locate the nearest Missouri Job Center.
3) Schedule an appointment with a Job Center Trade Representative to access TAA benefits and services.

What is Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA)

TRA is a monetary benefit similar to Unemployment Insurance (UI) that is only available to trade-affected workers who meet specific criteria. TRA is administered by the Division of Employment Security (DES).

To be eligible for TRA, workers must

1) Have earned at least $30 per week in 26 of the last 52 weeks at a trade-affected employer.
2) Be issued a waiver or be enrolled or participating in full-time TAA-approved training by either
   • 26 weeks after the petition certification date; or
   • 26 weeks after the worker’s last qualifying separation date from the trade-affected employer, whichever date is later.

Three types of TRA:

1) Basic TRA
   Workers can draw Basic TRA while on a waiver or enrolled or participating in full-time TAA-approved training. Workers may receive up to 52 weeks of monetary benefits – a combination of Unemployment Insurance (UI) and Basic TRA.

2) Additional TRA
   Workers may receive up to 65 weeks of Additional TRA while participating in full-time TAA approved training after eligibility to Basic TRA is exhausted.

3) Completion TRA
   Workers may receive up to 13 weeks of Completion TRA after exhausting additional TRA and within 20 weeks of completing training. Workers must be participating in full-time TAA classroom and/or distance learning/online training and meet benchmark requirements.

Waiver from Training

Eligible workers may be issued a waiver from training to receive or preserve Basic TRA. Waivers can only be issued to workers who have the goal of attending full-time TAA approved training or have a health issue preventing participation in TAA training. In most cases, workers on waivers must continue to job search in order to draw Basic TRA. Waivers must be reviewed at least once every 28 days.
Workers may be waived from participating in training if

1. Unable to participate in or complete training due to a health condition.
2. An enrollment in training is not immediately available.
3. No training program is available.

Earnings Disregard

In Missouri, an eligible worker that draws TRA and participates in full-time TAA training may earn up to 120% of his/her TRA weekly benefit amount before earnings will be deducted.

TRA Example:
- The eligible worker receives $320.00 in TRA per week.
- 120% of $320.00 is equivalent to $384.00.
- The eligible worker may work and earn up to $384.00 per week before any funds will be deducted from his/her TRA.

Eligible workers who qualify for weekly payments under the Unemployment Insurance (UI) program are only allowed a 20% earnings disregard.

UI Example:
- The eligible worker receives $320.00 in UI per week.
- 20% of $320.00 is equivalent to $64.00.
- The eligible worker may work and earn up to $64.00 per week before any funds will be deducted from his/her UI.

What is Reemployment Trade Adjustment Assistance (RTAA)?

Reemployment Trade Adjustment Assistance (RTAA) is a wage subsidy designed to help bridge the salary gap between the TAA worker’s trade-affected employment and reemployment. A worker participating in TAA On-the-Job Training (OJT) or TAA Registered Apprenticeship remains eligible for RTAA.

- Workers who return to the Trade Act certified employer, firm, and/or subdivision from which they were separated are not eligible for RTAA.
- Workers must be at least 50 years of age and reemployed to draw RTAA.
- The new annualized wage must be $50,000 or less.
- Workers can be reemployed full-time or part-time.
  - Part-time reemployment must be at least 20 hours per week and include participation in full-time TAA-approved training.
  - Workers participating in full-time reemployment, as defined by the Division of Employment Security, have the option to participate in TAA-approved training.
- A worker can receive benefits for up to two years or a maximum of $10,000.
  - The two-year period starts from either the date of reemployment or the date the worker exhausts his/her Unemployment Insurance (UI).
  - Any Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA) received will be deducted from the $10,000 maximum.
What is a Health Coverage Tax Credit (HCTC)

Health Coverage Tax Credit (HCTC) is a federal tax credit that pays 72.5% of qualified health insurance premiums for the eligible workers and families. The IRS administers the HCTC program and determines month-to-month eligibility.

To be eligible for HCTC, a worker must receive at least one of the following payments each month:

- Unemployment Insurance (UI) and be eligible for TRA;
- Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA); or
- Reemployment Trade Adjustment Allowance (RTAA).

For more information about HCTC, including qualifying insurance criteria, visit https://www.irs.gov/HCTC.

Trade Act Worker Responsibilities

The Division of Employment Security is responsible for making individual Trade Act program eligibility determinations. Eligible workers interested in participating in the Trade Act Program are responsible for meeting deadlines that apply to each TAA benefit and service.

1) File a Trade Act Claim with the Division of Employment Security (DES) by calling a Regional Claim Center (RCC):

   - St. Louis: (314) 340-4950
   - Jefferson City: (573) 751-9040
   - Kansas City: (816) 889-3101
   - Springfield: (417) 895-6851
   - Toll-Free*: (800) 320-2519

   - https://www.onetonline.org/

4) Contact the Trade Representative at least once every 60 days if participating in TAA classroom and/or distance learning/online training. Contact the Trade Representative prior to making decisions impacting your TAA benefits or services.
List of Terms

26/26 Week Criteria: To be eligible for TRA, a worker must be issued a waiver or be participating in TAA approved training within 26 weeks of the petition certification or separation date from the trade-affected employer. In rare circumstances, 45-day and 60-day waivers are available.

Additional TRA: After exhausting Basic TRA, a worker may be eligible for up to 65 weeks of Additional TRA. Additional TRA can only be drawn if the worker is participating in TAA-approved training.

Basic TRA: When combined with Unemployment Insurance (UI), a worker may be eligible for up to 52 weeks of UI and Basic TRA. Basic TRA can be drawn while on a waiver, enrolled in TAA-approved training, or participating in TAA-approved training.

Commuting Area: The area in which a worker would be expected to travel to and from his/her residence to participate in TAA benefits and services on a daily basis. In Missouri, the commuting area is 10 or fewer miles from worker’s residence.

Completion TRA: After exhausting Additional TRA, a worker may be eligible for up to 13 weeks of Completion TRA. Completion TRA can only be drawn if the worker is participating in TAA-approved training. Completion TRA can only be drawn when the worker is within 20 weeks of the end date of his/her scheduled TAA training.

Distance Learning/Online Training: Training classes available online, via satellite, pre-recorded, per video, etc.

Division of Employment Security (DES): The agency responsible for making individual Trade Act program eligibility determinations and issuing payments for TRA and RTAA. The Regional Claim Centers (RCCs) are a part of DES.

Enrolled: A worker is considered enrolled in TAA-approved training when his/her training request has been approved and (s)he is within 30 days of the start date of training.

Health Coverage Tax Credit (HCTC): A federal tax credit that pays 72.5% of qualified health insurance premiums for the eligible worker and his/her family.

Job Search Allowance: A 90% reimbursement to the worker that covers travel expenses associated with approved job search activities for suitable employment held outside the worker’s commuting area. The worker must request this allowance prior to participating in Job Search Allowance.

Labor Market Information: Includes all data and analysis related to employment and the workforce.

Missouri Job Centers: Located statewide, centers are staffed by workforce specialists, including designated Trade Representatives, who provide personalized employment-related services for job candidates and businesses.

MOScores: The Missouri Economic Research and Information Center’s online training provider search tool that allows individuals to research Missouri’s educational institutions and programs. The MOScores can be found at https://jobs.mo.gov.

Office of Workforce Development (OWD): The agency responsible for staffing Trade Representatives in Missouri Job Centers statewide. OWD is responsible for providing TAA services and making TAA determinations.

On-the-Job Training (OJT): Training in a business environment that provides worker with sustainable employment and wage. The employer is provided partial reimbursement of worker’s wage while the worker is trained for the new job.
Prerequisite Training: Coursework required by a training facility to be completed prior to entry into courses for specific training programs.

Reemployment Trade Adjustment Assistance (RTAA): A wage subsidy program for trade eligible workers who are at least 50 years old and who find qualifying reemployment.

Relocation Allowance: A 90% reimbursement of moving expenses to cover the worker and his/her household. Worker must request this allowance prior to moving and participating in Relocation Allowance.

Regional Claim Center (RCC): Call Center operated by the Division of Employment Security.

Registered Apprenticeship: Training that offers employment, on-the job learning, and related classroom training/instruction.

Remedial Training: Training that provides fundamental skills workers must have to become reemployed.

Skills Training: Training held at an approved training facility that provides job specific skills and leads to an approved credential.

Suitable Employment: Employment that 1) has a skill level that is equal to or higher than that of the trade-affected employer; 2) has a wage of at least 80% of wage received at Trade-affected employer; and 3) is full-time, long-term duration (not temporary).

Sustainable Employment: Employment where economic, social, and environmental conditions are satisfied and that allows the worker to support him/herself and family.

Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA): A portion of the Trade Act Program that provides opportunities to obtain the skills, credentials, resources, and support to become reemployed. TAA is administered by the Office of Workforce Development through the Missouri Job Centers.

Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA): A monetary benefit similar to Unemployment Insurance (UI) that is only available to trade-affected workers who meet specific criteria. TRA determinations and payments are made by the Division of Employment Security (DES).
